“ I remember the wonderful times that Aunt Lois and Uncle Raymond would all gather on a Saturday done in Arlington, Ga. at his brother's home to go fishing. They would all go either to the creek or over to the river and catch fish. They would have such fun being together. They would either clean the fish there at the river or creek and then cook them right there. Oh, how good they would taste cooked right there. Other times, we would cook them at Mr. Norman's house. Those were truly great times. I also cherish all the times I visited with them. Aunt Lois and Uncle Raymond always had good food on the table. She was a fine Christian lady and loved her family. I know I will miss her sweet spirit for everyone and especially for Uncle Raymond. She was welcomed to Heaven by Mr. Norman, Miss Essie Lou, Frederick, Leron, and Uncle J. W. they are all rejoicing together with The Lord. May we always cherish those special memories.

In prayer for the family, Marla Clower.

Seeing them (Uncle Raymond and Aunt Lois) at all my sports practices and games and I loved their garden and playing with the toy RC cars and trucks when I visited. They got me addicted to moon pies and RC cola.

“ My grandmother could make your mouth water from anything from frying fish and hush puppies to roast and peas and delicious cornbread. I will never see another red bird without thinking about her. She was constantly in her garden of planting tomatoes, peas, and other veggies along with gardening her daylilies and iris'. Her love for my grandfather was like no other. She was as patient and submissive as they come. I can only pray that I love my husband and children and one day grandchildren like she has loved all of us. My favorite sayings of hers, "We can't have it all, but you sure can try" and when hanging up on the phone she'd say, "love you, love ALL of you" . She had people steal from her house, and was forgiving like Christ and said, "I sure hope that person can use whatever they took more than I could." What a blessing to have had that God-fearing, Christ-like, genuine, loving role model. My special memories are of her holding my girls and spoiling them with lemonade, pound cake, peppermints, and singing them sweet lullabies from (Bayou bye baby to This Little Piggy and Tommy, Tommy, Tommy, Tommy, Whoopie Tommy). I love you Grandma and my heart aches without you, but my soul rejoices as you are at Christ's feet and can look down and love on us still. This lady never missed a family members birthday, even in her 90's she wrote us cards. Lastly, my grandmother was a prayer warrior. She woke up praying and laid down praying. Grandma we love you and look forward to seeing you in heaven again. Love, Rachel
