“Katie, you know that you and Lexi and the boys are in my constant prayers.....This has been long and hard, but you have been the best that Cory could have had as a wife....The short time was filled with so much love that you both were an inspiration to all who watched you walk through this journey. Some never have the quality of relationship in decades of marriage that you two did.... You were meant to be each other's partner in this time and in this place. God has walked with you and will continue to Walk with you on Earth as He walks with Cory in Heaven.....therefore you will always be connected.....by the Hands of God.....one in yours and one in Cory's. I Pray you will Feel their presence each day as you journey on . Cory has given to all of us an example of courage that we will never forget.....and You both have given us the awe inspiring example of "loving commitment" as a "gift" from your suffering. May God Bring Blessings beyond your understanding into your life for your Faithfulness. We love you and Pray for you every day that God will bring you memories of Joy, and moments of Laughter, and Restful sleep with Dreams of the Happiness of Heaven. And that Cory will live on through you and little Lexi and those precious boys.

“ My memory of Cory is when I saw him at Dr. Alexander's office last summer. I had taken our daughter, Karen, there. I over heard Cory while in his wheelchair explaining to his daughter, Kori, that daddy had a stroller, too. What a sweet thing to say to his baby girl. Cory fought a long courageous fight. May God hold each of you and may all his loving angels wrap their wings around you to give you heavenly peace.
