“ My most recent and cherished memory of Madeline was at our quaint Sunday gathering down by the river. It was a usual service with immediate family and maybe a few others. Also, Madeline and Sadie were present that morning. But, what I especially remember was during the closing of the meeting, Dad had ask whoever would like to close in prayer could do so. After a few brief seconds I could hear Madeline's voice break the silence. It was not a mundane or automated prayer. It was a free and comfortable tone that made you know she was in regular conversation with her Father. I thought to myself as I listened to her speak to the Lord, this is how prayer should be. And, in that moment, I knew she was famaliar with heavenly things. Today, without a doubt, Madeline is most comfortable and happy in conversation with her Father. Enjoy Madeline! We love you!
