“ First Easter without Mom. I know you are rejoicing in heaven with Daddy, your Momma, Father, sisters, brothers and our Heavenly Father. How wonderful to know death is only temporary and we will all be together again one day. We all still miss you. Please give hugs and kisses to all.

“ Grandma, the most inspirational woman to ever step foot in my life, Today is 3 months. I still can't believe it. I never wanted you to go! I know you are looking down on me from Heaven, and you can't wait for all of us to get there, but it's hard to fight that selfishness inside of me that wants you down here. I miss you so much and I will see you one day soon. I love you more than you could ever imagine! - Jordan

“ My Grandma, My best friend: I miss you more than you will ever know. I miss you more and more everyday and it's still unreal to me that you're not here. Christmas & Christmas Eve was not the same. Instead of visiting you sitting up tall, straight, and happy with your Christmas sweater on, I visited your grave. :(I never wanted to see your name on a funeral website, and I never wanted to see you laying in a coffin or have your name in a cemetery. I can't believe that you're not here. I love and miss you so much more than you could ever imagine, and every time I hear "I Can Only Imagine," I shed a tear, and think of you. I would do anything to have just one more moment with you to tell you how much I love you, and I would do anything to make this happen. My heart will have a huge hole in it and will stay like that until I meet with you one day again. I miss you and love you Grandma. I wish I didn't have to say this in your guestbook on Kimbrell Stern; I wish I could say this in person. You've left a legacy for me, and I'll use every single word of advice and fly with it.

“ Momma, today is Christmas and I can't believe you're not here with me. I miss you everyday but today is so sad for me without you. Every Christmas carol I hear reminds me of you. How can I celebrate a holiday without you? I know you are with me all the time but I just wish I could hold your hand or touch your shoulder like I did just a few weeks ago. I miss you, Mom, more than I even thought I could. I miss our phone calls. I miss knowing you're here for me. Have a great Christmas with your Mom and Dad, brothers and sisters, and of course Daddy. Please tell them I love them and I miss them also. By the way, tell God I hope I make Him proud of me each and every day. I love you, Mom!! Merry Christmas... Your 3rd daughter, Linda

“ Of all the gifts that god has given both here on earth and up above, the gift that was given to me was my aunt Clara's love. Thank you for the precious memories you have given me that I will always hold dear to my heart and soul. Aunt Clara has left behind a big beautiful family that she has inspired to hold onto her legacy. She was a woman with fidelity, humility, and selfless love. She has eternal joy and her presence in heaven right now. Your loving niece, Karen-----

“ Pat: I am so sorry to hear about your mother. I know it is not easy even when they have lived a long a happy life to give them up. If it was left up to usewe would never give them up but it is not and I am sure she is in a better place.

“ Aunt Clara was a selfless, caring, hardworking Christian woman who loved family foremost. She was no-nonsense but also had a great sense of humor when I was growing up. She was sweet and kind to me.

“ My Dearest Mom, Although my heart is breaking today, fearing a world without you in it, I know you are in heaven. Thank you for being the very best Mom in the world. Yesterday that dream you had around Thanksgiving came true. You ARE walking freely again without your cane, walker or any assistance. You are young again. Beautiful (Although, I truly thought you were beautiful til the end). You are running through fields of flowers and walking streets of gold with all your brothers and sisters. You can again see your Mom and Dad. Hold Daddy's hand. More importantly you can see the face of Jesus. I can only imagine these things. Please know, that on my darkest days, I will take comfort in these thoughts. I love you and will miss you forever. Jan (And Mary Jane)
