“ When Charlie called me yesterday morning to tell me that you were no longer here on this earth I felt your presence as I accepted the news. Your hand was on my shoulder squeezing it slightly as you had done a million times before to let me know that together we would be able to get through the task at hand. Today after I talked to your brother David I continued to allow myself to reminisce in a multitude of memories of us working on this farm trying to make it something special for the children to enjoy. I wonder what happened to the cowboy hat that you were wearing during your first reck while you were still in high school it was still sporting blood on it. You use to wear that hat every Saturday & Sunday when we would do the trail rides. I will always keep your memory alive in my heart. I promise to continue to be the mom to Nakota that I have always been. Cissy oh my dear friend Cissy what will life be like without your wisdom and your calming effect that you always seemed to have over me. Goll Dern it anyway. I love you like the sister I never had. Please tell the horses from our herd that were there waiting when you arrived in heaven Eldon, Jazmyn & Vision to name a few that I continue to keep them alive in my heart as well. Farewell my comrad.
