SO

I've known this wonderful woman for 53 years. She was like a second mother to me. I remember when Marshal and I were 16 years old, she would fuss at us when she smelled cigarette smoke on our breath. She was good at fussing. She meant what she said and said what she meant. There was no guessing. She was always transparent. I cherish the fond memories of sitting around the kitchen table with her and Mr. Raughton, drinking coffee, talking and laughing. Thanks for being who you were, Mrs. Raughton. The world is a better place to live in after you are gone because you were in it. Go War Eagles!!! Lovingly, Steve Olson

SO

BTW, I didn't mean that she was good at fussing in a bad way. I meant it as a compliment. Kinda.
