“ I was one of Mr Chapman's nurses for several years at Palmyra Nursing Home. Mr Chapman always had a smile on his face. He always knew how to make me laugh when I needed to the most. He even gave me a nickname, "Chester" And I know that one day when I get to heaven; I will hear the words that I've heard so many times. " Good morning Chester,its time to smile!"

“ We met Wallace in 1995 & enjoyed taking him out to eat & to sing @ Senior Citizen gatherings. We have not seen him since moving to Moultrie 2 years ago, but we sent him notes & cards. We often speak of him & we can still hear him singing. We love you Wally!

“ To the Chapman family, Irene and Wallace were close family friends when I grew up in Albany. My Mother, Eileen and Father, Carl Callaway so enjoyed their company and were dear friends. Those friendships were grew out of the special relationships at Byne Church and the Exchange Club. Wallace and Irene are rejoicing together now! May God Bless your family. Sincerely, Don Callaway, Arlington, Virginia.

“Glen, we were sorry to hear about Uncle Wallace. While we were living in Americus, we enjoyed going over and visiting Uncle Wallace and taking him out on little trips here and there. On Father's Day 2 yrs. ago, we took hiim to church-he had been aked to sing. Jo helped him up the steps & he did so well!! Such volume he had!! We enjoyed his singing so much. As everyone came up to him after church telling him how they enjoyed his singing, he went to calling for help from Jo. His pants had fallen down!! Jo pulled his pants up, told him we would go get suspenders after dinner and that he needed to be grateful it happened when it did. Uncle Wallace wanted to know why. Jo said, "Well, Uncle Wallace they could have felled down while you were singing." We had such a good laugh about that. He was such a special man and really loved his Lord. Was always ready to talk about how God had touched him. When he came with us to Brunswick when Jenny was home for visit, he had a good time. Knew all the towns coming up by name and what used to be where. He will be missed by so many of us. Know that you are in our prayers.

Love, Jo & Sharon Chapman
