“ It has only been weeks since I last saw you, but it seems like years. You were sitting on our sofa being "Greg" and having the best time visiting with Jessica and Jeff Jr. and I. You came over to show us your new truck and you were so proud of it, as you should have been. Not a day goes by that Jessica and I don't talk about her Daddy and I am good with that, because I miss you as much as she does. She is being the big sister, and talks with her sisters everyday, they comfort each other, I know you are proud of all of them. I really wish you didn't get called home so soon there was so much we didn't get a chance to do with each other, things we said we were going to do. You were there when I needed you most as I fought my cancer, and all you kept saying to me when I thanked you was "that's what family does", that showed me how important family was to you. I know you are watching over us I feel your spirit everyday, thank you for trusting me with your oldest daughter I will not let you down. I miss you Greg, we all do.

“ Greg was my cousin but more like a brother. We spent many days playing as children. To be honest we didn't like each other very much but isn't that just like siblings. My heart breaks for his children and grandchildren. Take comfort in knowing he is with his parents.
