“ Dad I miss you so much. Mama passed a couple days ago so after writing a memory on her page, I popped into yours. Unfortunately, a memory was written under my name years back. I did not write that. M did. Not okay.

So I'm correcting this years later and letting you know I miss you terribly. Every day. I'll never forget our (not enough and too brief) times together. I'm beyond grateful you were open to getting back in touch so we could have those visits before you passed. Please always remember, as I used to tell you, goodbyes with you were the hardest. Soul crushing. I used to talk with Mama about how life could have been had I lived with you and her. But that time has passed. I long to talk and giggle with you. You were so bright, and articulate, and funny, and tough, and loving, and handsome, and more. The world was a better place with you in it. I used to see a lot of you in my Dylan when he was younger. I know he and Dallas would adore you and you them. Your heart knew no bounds. Forever in my heart, Dad. Until we meet again, enjoy your love with Mama. I look forward to seeing you both on the other side, yet I still have much to do here. I love you. To the infinity. Lisa aka Ace. XX
