“ Mrs Inge was a great lady. I enjoyed working with her for the last few years and the jokes she always made about my hair colors. I will truly miss seeing her sittin at her desk goin what color is your hair this week? The pharmacy here at Phoebe is definently a different place without her, however we know she is in a much better place with God now.

“ It is so sad to have someone you love pass away. The loss of a loved one can truly be devastating to those who loved them dearly. Yet the scriptures tell us at Job 14:14, 15 that our heavenly Father yearns to bring such ones back to life. Not to a life of sorrow and pain, but to a life of enjoyment and peace and security (Psalms 37:11) with their friends. All of this is by means of the resurrection hope. (Acts 24:15)May you all find comfort in knowing that our heavenly Father is eager to do this.

“ I worked with Inge at Phoebe in the pharmacy for years. I have truly missed working with her and talking to her every day. I know she is in a better place and she will not suffer any more. I will continue to keep her family in my prayers.

“ After the death of Inge's husband James Henry, Inge became a loving grandmother to my children and a dear friend of mine. We will truly miss her visits on the weekend for dinner and fun game of rummecub or aggravation. She is in God's hands now and will suffer no more.
