“ Linda, we met many years ago in Abbeville, GA. You drove your mom to visit my mother, Olga Durham Hargrove, but Mama was not home that day. The two of them had been sorority sisters at the University of Georgia and had remained friends all of those decades.

Most importantly to my family, though, your mom created a beautiful painting of my mother in her wedding dress in 1945. I have the painting now in my home in Athens.

I last saw Aunt JoAnn at Mama's funeral in Dawson in 2002 but then did not maintain contact as I should have done.

Please accept my belated sympathy for your mother's death, and know my mother thought the world of Aunt JoAnn and loved her very much.

Having lost my own mother, I know you have a void that nothing can fill- there is no surpassing your mother's death- just moving past it.

“ To Charles? family:

While I didn?t have the pleasure of meeting Charles in person, Ladda has told me so much about how he has affected her life that I feel like I know him. In her words: ?He brought my smile back?. That was all I needed to hear to know that he was a kind and thoughtful person. He will truly be missed by all those whose lives he touched.

My God bless your family and give you peace.

Sincerely,

Valencia Simmons

“ Thanks to all who have dropped a note via snail or e-mail. How sweet you are! Mom and my aunt Joanne have been confusing us for years. I am pleased to let you know that joAnne STORY McClung is doing great!

Brothers married JoAnn s and started great confusion which has lasted over 50 years!

I also need to apologize for failing to mention Mom's sibblings, nieces and nephews in the obituary. She was preceded in death by Mary Florence Cannon, L E "BoBO" Cannon, R C "Bob" McCollum JR and three step sisters: Sarah McCollum Buntin, Jessie McCollum Dickens and Alice McCollum Dalen. Also preceded in death by a beloved nephew, Bob McCollum III

Several surviving nieces and nephews whom she loved to remember as children and tell the stories of their youth.

*So many dear friends in Albany have appreciated her unique spirit- - Ms Charlotte you have been a special gift to her: please know that our thoughts are also with YOU as you've lost a lifelong buddy.
