“ Jeff Lamonte Your father was a wonderful man of God. Thanks for sharing him with my sisters and me.

He was a loving Christian man, with many stories to tell and always a smile and hug for everyone he met. He treated all of us like an extended part of your family. I will never forget his kind, giving heart, his laughter, love for all things Italian- especially 🍕 Pizza!(He actually introduced me to 🍕 pizza and bell peppers, when I was just a little girl& oh do I love both of those foods.)

Most importantly his love for Christ, sharing stories from the bible, and the plan of salvation. Not many tears shed here- I know where he is and can't wait to see him in heaven.

What a Father's Day celebration it will be in heaven this year- my Dad and yours together again! I am sure there will be lots of food, fellowship, Fishing, singing, and worshipping.

🎵What a Day that will be, when my Jesus, I shall see- when I look upon his face-THE ONE who saved my his grace, when he takes-me by the hand and leads me through the PROMISE LAND- What a Day, Glorious Day, that will be! No more sickness, no pain, no sorrow there..!🎤

I will never forget, how special he made me feel-when he came to visit us many years ago at our church and he shared pictures, slide shows and a film about his work in New Guinea. Then he came to see me run at my elementary school track meet. One of the best feelings ever, to know that your family and friends all were there-present, together, no other distractions(no cell phones back then) all cheering for you!! remember distinctly placing third, but it certainly felt like I finished first-because I had the biggest and loudest family and cheering section.

Well his race is finished and WOW what a great race John LaMonte ran!
