“ I didn't know this person physically, but I feel that I knew him in spirit. Corey spoke highly of his father and quite often so he felt like part of our T-Mobile family, his son is a fine young man and fineness comes from greatness, so I know this father did a great job of raising his family. I send the family my love and can only hope that they will stay strong and keep their heads held high for the rest of the family because Mr. Miller is in a much better place and can have some piece now. We will see you in the promise land. Corey the best is yet to come.

>Love

“ Dear Corey, I was so sad to hear of your incredible loss. There is no question as to what your father meant to you. I am sorry to say I never had the pleasure of meeting him because he sounds like a very respectable person. I know that you are very proud of your father and I respect you for that. Great role models are hard to find and too often ignored, but you did not. Your father will always be with you because you are him, and a hero never quits. Your hero will always be with you when ever you need him.

Respectfully,
Amber Coen
