“ Dear Wentraub family,

I have such a long list of memories that span back to when I was a child.

Some of the greatest memories go all the way back to the "slippery rocks" of Indian Springs State Park in Georgia (long trip back then!) and of course St George Island. The one memory I will always cherish is the relationship Uncle Joe and Aunt Frances had with my mom and dad. My folks never stopped talking about the many trips that they took to the Florida and the Mountains.

I will never forget the memories my mom and Uncle Joe shared as they grew up in New York and Georgia. As tough as the times were back then, they were so very very close. These values will be passed on to my children and future grand kids.

Sincerely,

Larry Nerenbaum

“ Our favorite memory would be of Joe standing on the elevated tee at The Lodge in Cloudcroft (New Mexico) which, at 9500 ft elevation is the highest tee at any golf course in the United States. Unfamiliar with the course and the effect of the thinner air on the path of the ball, Joe used one club too many and, while on line, his shot went over the green. What a story it would have been had he managed a hole-in-one in his only try!
