“ Dante, I always said you were a good man whose hard work made life for his family better. Thank you for your delicious bread and pizza, for your cheerfulness, your songs and accordian playing, and for comforting me while holding my hands, crying with me, even when you could no longer speak, at the time of my beloved son's passing. I know you are in a much better place together with him and other loved ones. Families are forever. You will be missed for a little while until we meet again, take care!
