“ To all of Lois and Moses Children:

Jo Ann and I regret so deeply that we were unable to attend Lois's funeral.

I have the fondest memories of her. She was truly a great lady in the old tradition. When Jo and I were children she welcomed us into her home, first on 8th avenue, then the other home, and finally Tuxedo. Were it not for her I might have not have developed an interest in the Medical Profession. I remember when Tim, Lynn, Pam, and Angie were all born. I remember fondly the trips to 'Skeeter' Beach during summers spent in Albany. She had a grace and a presence that any father of girls would wish to pass on to his own. Time has not erased they joy of visits by your family to my old home in Alpharetta. I recall with great affection Tim visiting me along with Jo Carole during long barefoot summers in the sandy chicken infested yards at the old home place , now forever a memory of another day. I remember your father who used to delight me with his smiles and the way he teased us. He was the quintessential Crisler father role model. The pain from Lois's death may ease slowly with time but the loss still remains, not that she is not in a better place but that she was a beautiful example of a life well lived. The world is a better place for her being here. Heaven has a new angel and a renewed body in Christ. With all our love, Crisler and Jo Ann House

Please forward this to all the family members as I cannot find their addresses. -FCH “Lois and I were friends for many years. Her husband, Chris, and my husband, Gil, were best friends and business associates in the loan industry. We went to many GILA conventions together. Once we stayed at Pat Mathis's place in Daytona and had fun while our husbands went to meetings. One time we went out in a fishing boat with Gil and Chris. We hated it! It was hot, sticky, and uncomfortable. We made them return us to the dock and instead we went and got our hair done at the beauty shop. I remember going dancing, sharing meals, eating Lois's delicious caramel cake, and so much more. We shared many wonderful memories and good times. I will miss Lois with all my heart. I loved her. She was a dear and treasured friend.
