“ Mrs. Shiver,

I will miss you so much. I knew you through our visits when you stopped at the post office. I loved it when you would come in and call out "Hello Cindy Lou ". Or " hello Cindy Part-time how are you today?"..

Talking with you was always a favorite moment in my day at work. Your sweet, friendly nature made me treasure the times we had to chat. You always took time to come in and share a moment to encourage me or to share a story of your childhood and other topics.

The chats about Strawberry picking and other chores of the day before your beloved Charles passed away were happy talks. The last visit we shared a big hug and a few tears. I close my eyes now and see your smile and hear your laughter and know I have lost a special friend.

To those of you who were blessed to have Mrs. Shiver as a family member should already know that she was such a rare gem in this world. Oh how I will miss her...
