“ When I first came to Albany as a newlywed over 50 years ago, Norman and his family were among our first friends. Norman’s kindness and caring have been a constant throughout all my years of friendship with him. In the past few months, our conversations have been limited to phone conversations as his health declined but the warmth and affection between friends continued to grow. Norman never failed to remember and ask about each member of my family and we always enjoyed recalling memories of his friendship with my late husband Ed. Rest in peace, dear friend 🙏❤️
