“ Tim and I went through boot camp, technical school, and our first assignment together at Myrtle Beach Air Force Base. We were room mates in the barracks and almost inseparable as friends. We spent hours upon hours becoming expert frisbee flingers on the beach or on the side street by my house in Surfside, SC. After 4 years, Tim got out of the military and went back home to Albany to marry Heidi and raise their son J.R into a fine young man.

We stayed in touch and visited each other numerous times over the years. I could also count on him to send me a box of Georgia pecans now and then.

He was my best friend. I could always count on him to lend a hand or just an ear to listen to my problems and I did the same for him. He will surely be missed. He was a decent man who loved his family, especially his grand daughter and I know he is in Christ's kingdom back together with Heidi.
