“ hi my name is lisa. i took of vera for 2 years. i would go to give her bath, and change her sheets. vera passing for me was very overwhelming for me. i was hurt the same way that i was hurt when my grandmother passed. the last day i say vera was 9-4-03 the day before she passed. the whole time i was bathing her i was crying. and she kept asking me not to worry and that she love me. and i told her i could not help it because i did not want her to go any where. and she nod her head and said i know but do not worry, and i love you. before i left i told her i love her to. and that i will not worry. and she patted me on the face and told me she love me and not to worry. when vera tells me she loves me, its not just any i love you. it has a very special meaning behind it. like something powerfull. i going to really miss vera, i was in her life for 2 years. my feelings is (was) more than just a work realationship. she is special to me. no other patient i have or have had, has ever meant anything to me the way vera does I LOVE YOU VERA. I WILL NOT WORRY. LOVE YOU ALWAYS LISA.
