accepted Christ as His saivour several months before before He died and I'll see Him in

“ AS I sit in front of this computer prying the words from my mind. I think about the things that lie ahead of me and it hurts to think your not goin to be with me though the time I wanted you most to the time I need the most. My graduration means alot to me...but knowing you won't be there in person makes that day harder & harder. Knowing you will be standing next to me makes me want that day more & more. Knowing that you feel no more pain makes me happy...but as I grive for you and with my family I slowly let go & think of you happy waiting on me. So, I say my good byes to you... Ill see you soon...I love you always.
